THE ORGANIZATIONAL EFFECTIVENESS SURVEY (OES)

DETECTION/PREVENTION
Knowing how employees feel about working in the organization allows leaders to respond to specific areas of concern such as productivity and turnover.

The OES will assess what is going well and offer warning signs of organizational "At Risk" behaviors and business practices that if not caught soon enough can negatively impact overall performance, growth, and financial results.

DIAGNOSIS
The OES identifies 28 behavioral and business practice competencies within 4 functions of the organization:

- Leadership: Achievement Driven, Trustworthy, Responsiveness, Emotional/Social Skills
- People: Employee Engagement and Satisfaction
- Strategy: Mission/Purpose, Vision, Goals, Tactical Plans
- Performance: Evaluates Customer Satisfaction, Employee Appraisal, and Track Improvement.

PROGNOSIS
The OES predicts workforce readiness and willingness to tackle new initiatives and change activities from the results of 2 functions at the center or core of the organization:

- Change Readiness: Adaptability/Flexibility
- Values Gap Analysis: Are we walking the talk? Is the Organization’s immune system Congruent, Healthy and Strong, or Incongruent, Toxic and Weak?

“Is our Leadership trustworthy and responsive to the market, our customers and our employees?”

“Are our people engaged, satisfied and committed to their job, co-workers and the organization?”

“Are we measuring and monitoring our progress for performance improvement?”

“Do we have a sense of purpose, a strategic direction and an execution plan?”
